TO BEGIN: Point and double click on the "Cataloging" folder in the Navigation Menu, then on the "Bibliographic Record" folder, then on "Create New Bib"

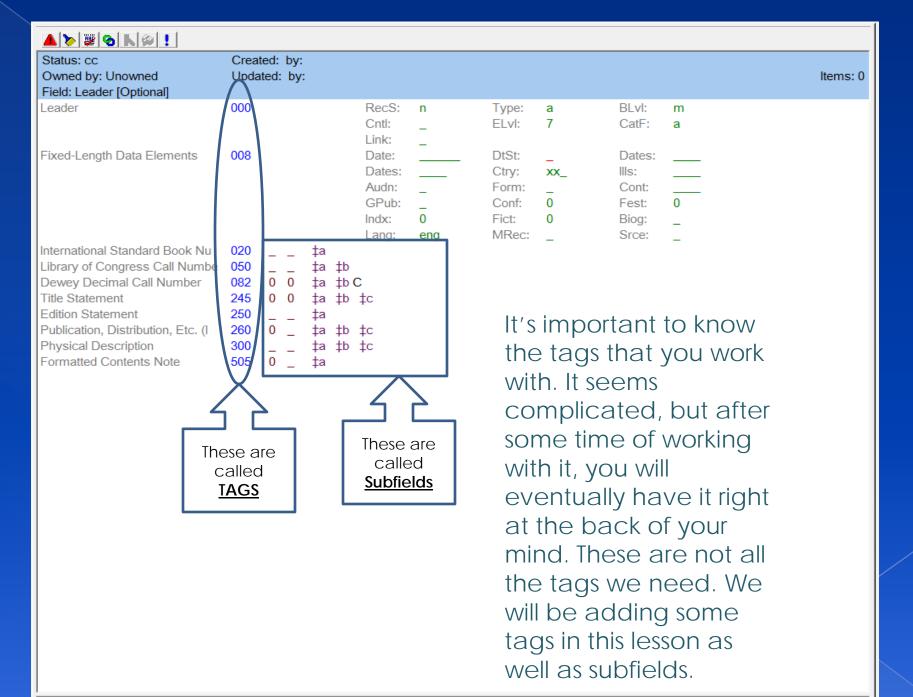

A "Code Lookup bib Workforms" window will open. You must categorize it with the item you are going to create a bib for. In this case, it is a book. Choose BK then OK at the bottom.

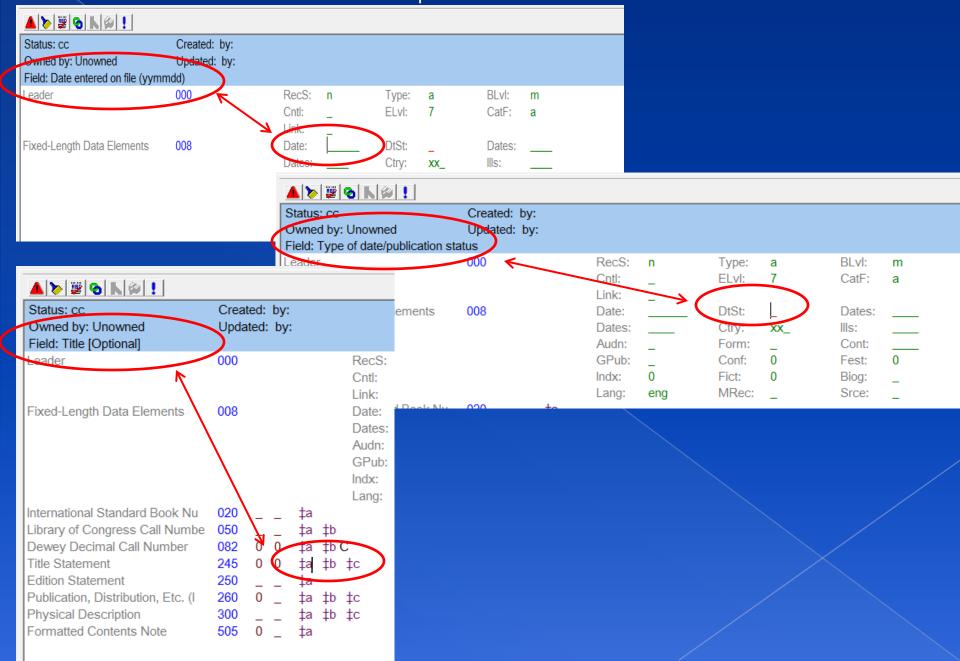

This is how the blank Bib form looks like. You can see at the bottom here on the tab, it indicates "Bib <New>"

If you put your cursor inside one of the subfields it will indicate what needs to be recorded in that field. Examples are here below.

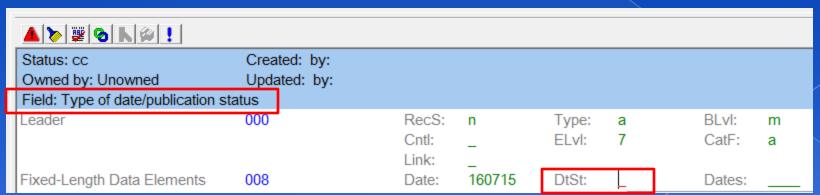

LET'S BEGIN

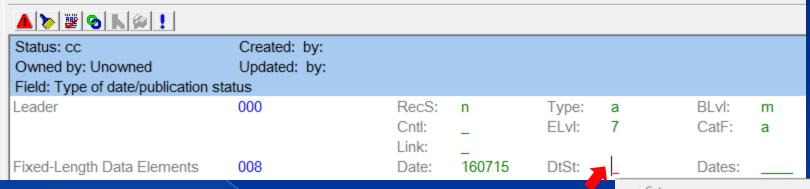

We will leave Tag #000 as it is and go to Tag #008. As you can see below I have the cursor in the First Date subfield and if you look at the top in the Blue background next to "Field" Date entered on file meaning the date recorded. I have entered the Date in the order requested (yymmdd) Year, Month then Date. After entering the information, the cursor should go to the next subfield

"DtSt:"

Now in the "DtSt" field it asks for? Type of date/publication status. With your cursor there, you can right click to choose a code.

Simply bring your mouse next to the cursor in that subfield and right click. From the menu, choose Valid Codes. An Element list will open. This book has only one date on it's card so I have selected "Detailed date". Notice Other Elements Listed.

In the next subfield "Dates", you will enter the copyright date. it says "Date 1" in the blue space above, next to the "Field". There is also a "Date 2" and this would normally be if there is a 2nd date offered. In these fields you will only be typing in the year.

Skip the next "Dates" and go to "Ctry" Country. If you look at The Field Indicator above, it asks for place of Publications and it is currently set at "xx_" which shows in the Value indicator that xx_ is for No Place or Unknown.

I have changed the Place of Publication to "nyu" which is for New York, and which is also indicated on the Shelf-list card. You can also check valid codes when you are not sure.

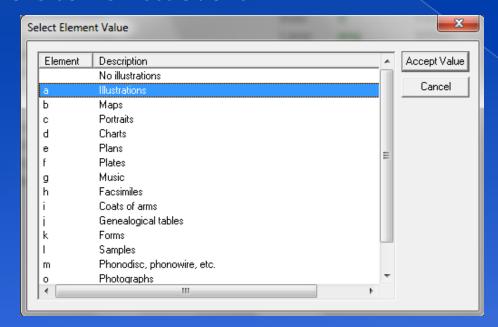

You can also choose to right click with your cursor in that field and select "Valid Codes". The same procedure I have shown earlier.

Now the cursor is in the "Ills:" field and it asks at the top in the blue space if there are illustrations. It is currently set blank, which also means there is "no illustrations" seen in the blue space next to "Value". You can repeat the procedure again to select from Valid codes. I will choose "a" because there are some illustrations.

THE REST OF THE FIELDS
AS IT IS.

Bring your cursor down to the Tag #020 shown below and this is where you will type in your ISBN Number. Look also to the right in Tag #008, the illustration section that has been changed from the previous slide.

This is how it looks when completed. The "b" subfield will not be used in this case. [et al] means "and others"

Below is an example of the "b" field. Normally if there is a colon in your title separating parts of the title, then you would use the "b" field.

From this Shelf-list, I have highlighted the information that are not recorded in the MARC bib that was just created. Notice that I had highlighted one of the editors/creators name. There is actually a tag for that single part.

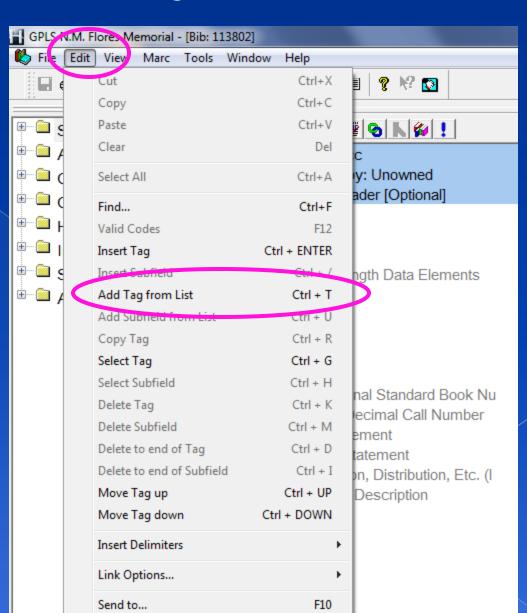

LETS START ADDING TAGS

To ADD a TAG

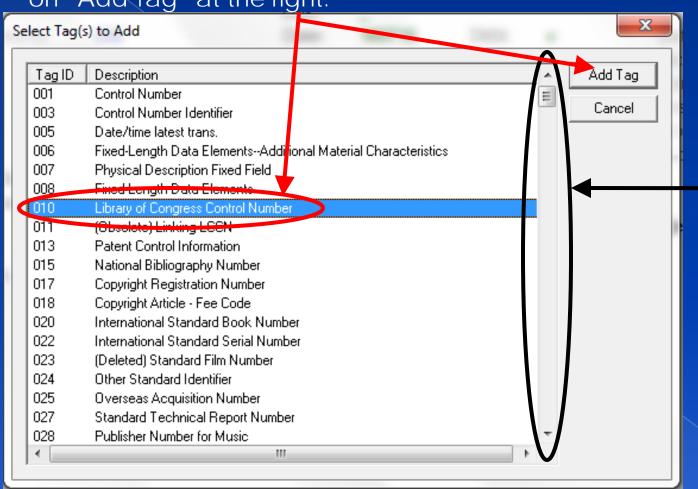

With your MARC bib still open, go to the menu bar, point and left click on "EDIT". From the drop menu, choose "Add Tag from List"

Another Procedure would be to Press "Ctrl + T" on your keyboard. While holding the Ctrl button down, press T

This window should open and there is a list of Tags to choose from. Shown here, I am starting with Tag# 010 "Library of Congress Control Number (or) LC number. Select the tag you want to use and left click on "Add Tag" at the right.

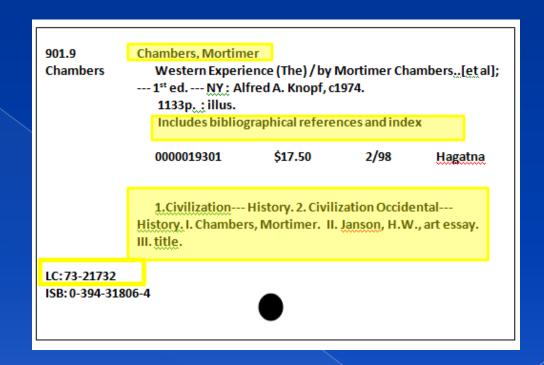

There is a scroll bar on the right and this tells you that there are many more tags in this listing.

You can also see some of the tags listed and what they are for.

When typing your LC number, remember what I had explained in the first lesson. There is an 8 digit rule. Right now for example the LC number showing is 7 digits. You must add a zero "0" in place of the dash "-". If there is for example 6 digits, you must add 2 zero's. As shown below correct entry. DO NOT EVER type the LC (73-21732) into Horizon.

Library of Congress Control Nu 010 _ _ ‡a 73021732

We still have the other highlighted areas to complete

Again, you will add a tag using the same procedures I have explained.

For authors, you would have to use Tag# 100, but this is not the author. He is one of the persons who edited or compiled this book together. In this case, you must use Tag# 700. 700 would also be used for joint authors, illustrators, etc.

Notice in the Tag# 700, that it has separate subfields as well.

In subfield "a" it asks for Personal Name.

IT IS VERY IMPORTANT THAT WHEN YOU ARE FILLING IN THIS TAG YOU MUST ALWAYS PRESS "Ctrl + B" ON YOUR KEYBOARD AND RIGHT AFTER YOU TYPED!

After you have pressed "Ctrl + B" this list will open. The reason for having to do this is to select from the list and to prevent repeated entries of a particular Name. As you can see here, there are some potential repeated entries. The author's name that was typed is not on this list. You may just press ESC (Escape) on your keyboard to close this window.

If for example the name you had just typed was Oswald Chambers. When you select "Ctrl + B" after typing in the name. It is on this list so, you are to highlight it by clicking on it and choosing "Link" at the bottom, or Press "ENTER" on your keyboard. Originally it isn't the name that was typed therefore this will be the first entry for Mortimer Chambers and I will show you this after I save.

Every time an author or creator is recorded and we do not perform the "Ctrl + B" and instead just save it. The list of one persons name can be many.

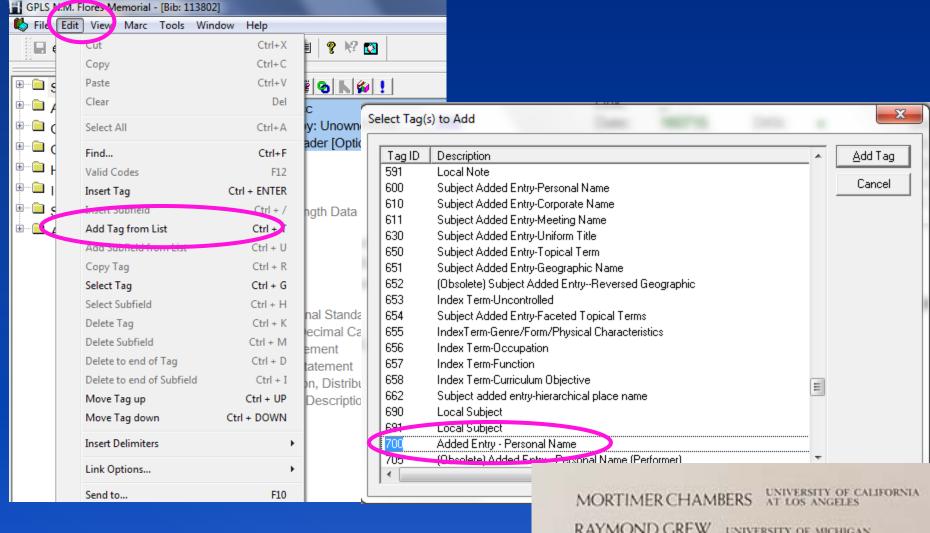

I have saved here at the top in the tool bar and I will put my cursor next to the Authors name in my MARC record and press "Ctrl + B" again to check.

Added Entry - Personal Name 700 1 0 ‡a Chambers, Mortimer, ‡e compiler.

Here below shows that the author entry now exists in the list. So every single time you use Tags #100 or 700, you must always perform the "Ctrl + B".

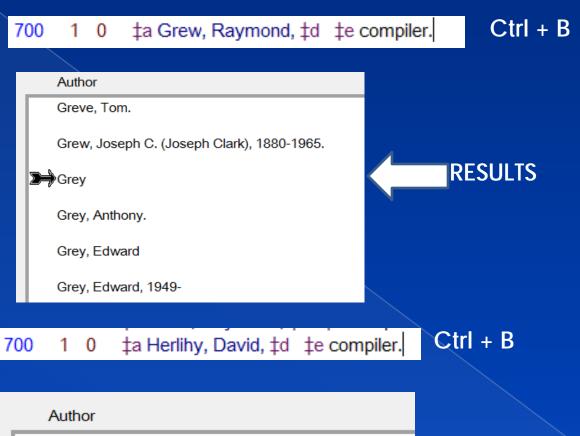

On the title page at the beginning of this lesson, there are other names involved. You can also record those names. So just the same way add a tag and choose again 700.

Again, we will add another tag. Choose from the tag list, Tag# 504 to record your bibliographical note.

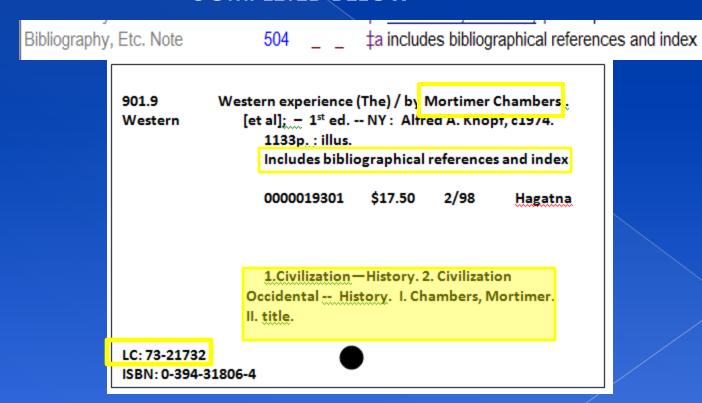

This is where you will record whether your material has a bibliographical reference or index as shown completed below. Not all materials would have this so this Tag and some are not always required.

COMPLETED BELOW

Finally we are going to add tags for the subject entries on the shelf-list card. From the list choose Tag# 650 and then Add tag or press enter.

This is your first subject entry. Notice what each subfields indicate.

Subfield "a" asks for topical term or geographical names as entry elements (or) plainly "General Subject Terms".

Status: cc Created: 7/18/2016 11:51:00 AM by: hofcs

Field: Topical term or geographic name as entry element [Optional, Link Always]

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 0 ta tx

Subfield "x" asks for General subdivision. Similar to the topical term, but more defining the topical term.

Status: cc Created: 7/18/2016 11:51:00 AM by: hofcs Owned by: Unowned Updated: 7/19/2016 3:41:00 PM by: hofcs Field: General subdivision [Optional, Link Always]

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 0

I have recorded the information into the subfields. This entry is in reference to subject number "1" on the shelf-list card. This is the correct way to enter it. I have found entries that were recorded incorrectly and I have had to make the corrections. Do Not Add the "--" when recording this information. The "x" field does it for you.

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a Civilization ‡x History Ctrl + B

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a Civilization-- ‡x History

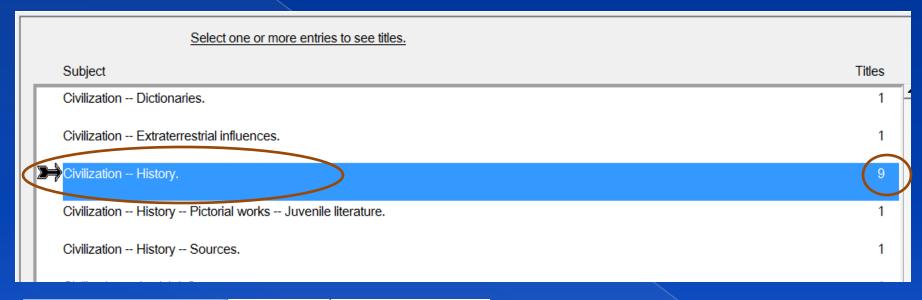

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a Civilization-- History ‡x

THESE ARE INCORRECT ENTRIES

After my correct entry above, I noted "Ctrl + B" next to it. In this Tag, you must also perform this function. This is, just like the Author field, needed to avoid repeated entries of the same subject. If this is not performed, there could be a long list of the same recording.

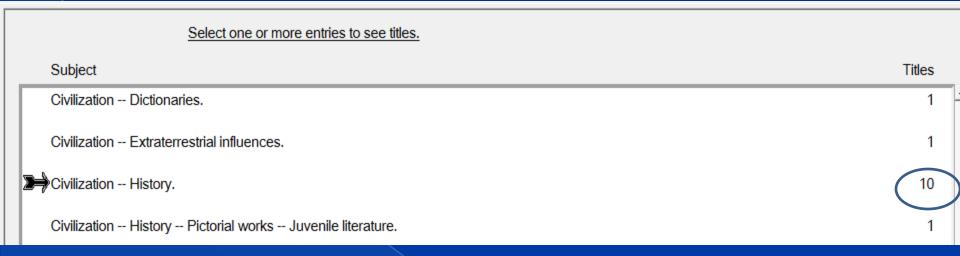

You can see here below that the subject that I typed exists on the list of subjects. On the right of this list, you can see how many title's own this subject. This helps when someone is searching for books by subject and happen to ask for this one in particular. It returns with the list of books showing on the right. I will highlight this subject by clicking on it and pressing enter on my keyboard.

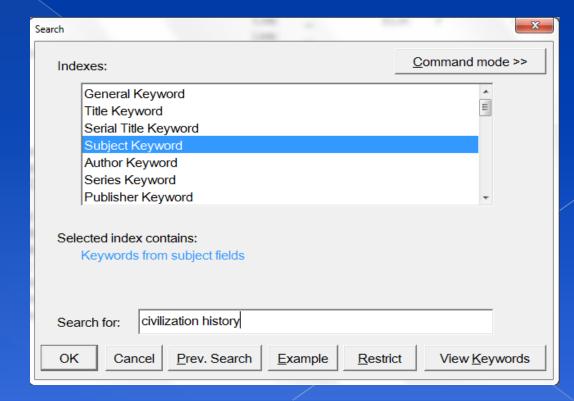

If I was to save this first and put my cursor next to the subject entered. Press "Ctrl + B" again?

This material just made itself the 10th title to own this subject.

If I wanted to see the list of titles in this subject, I would simply press "F2" on my keyboard or go through the search procedure shown earlier. I would select Subject Keyword from the indexes and type in the subject and click OK or press enter on my keyboard

Highlight the subject and choose "Show Titles at the bottom.

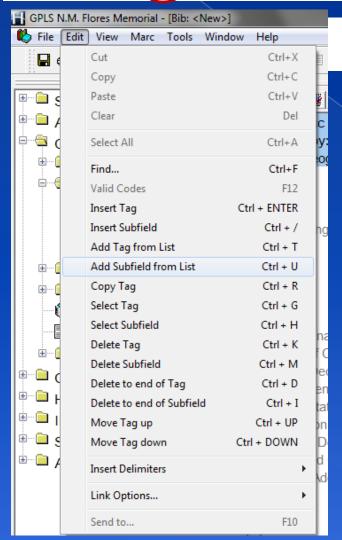

Show Titles Cancel To Alpha List Select All

This is the 10 titles that own that Subject entry. You can also see the one that was just added at the bottom.

10. Western Experience (The) / by Mortimer Chambers[et al] Chambers, Mortimer, compiler.	c1974.

Another important thing to know is how to add a subfield. Below is an example. Another subfield "x" had to be added because of the 2^{nd} (- -)

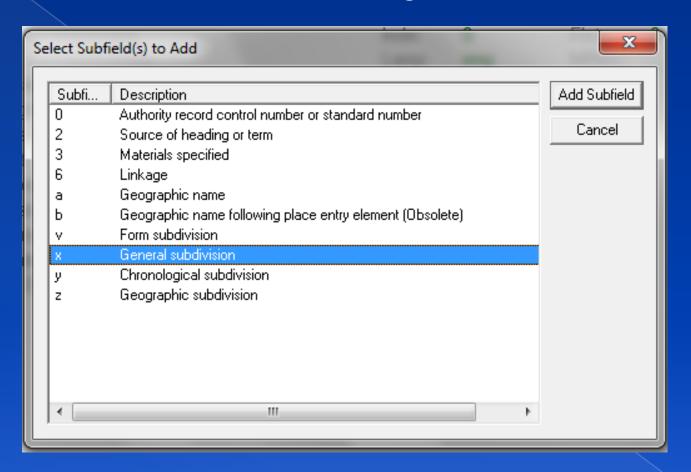

1. German (- - Politics and governmen (- -) 933-1945.

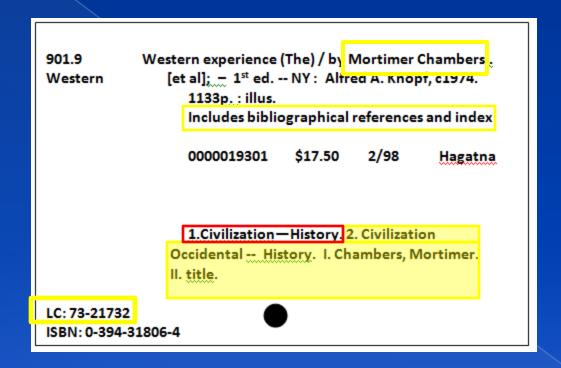

To add a subfield. With your bib still open go to the "Edit" above and from the drop choose, "Add Subfield from List" (or) on your keyboard press "Ctrl + U".

This subfield window will open for you to select from. As I mentioned earlier that there is a second (- -) so the right field would be "x"

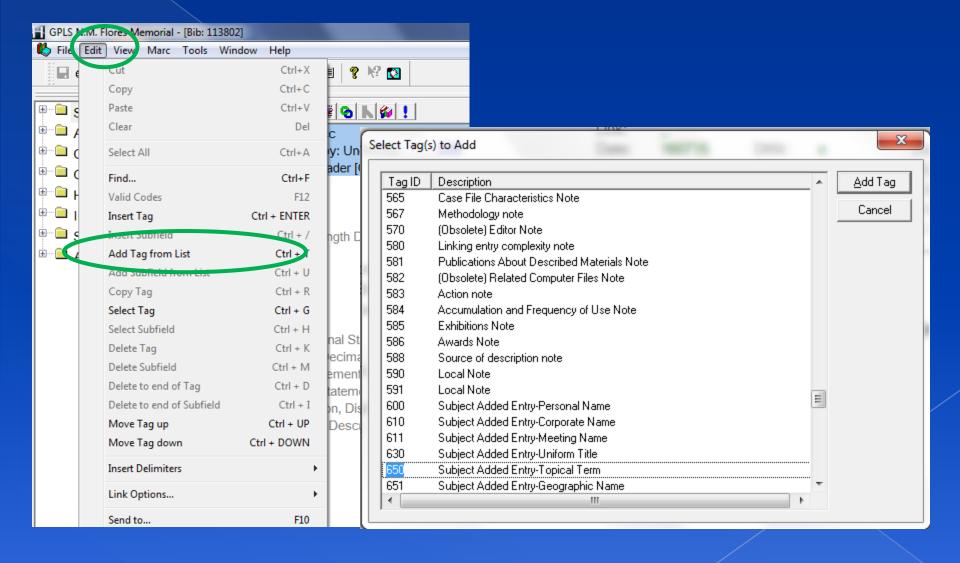

So it is very important to also pay attention to the Blue highlighted field at the top of the Bib record so that you know what the different fields are for and when adding a subfield, it won't be too complicated.

We still have one more subject to add so you need to add a tag again once more for the same Tag# 650

Once again How to add the Tag.

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a Civilization ‡x History.
Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a ‡x

The same procedure I showed earlier after typing in your subject "Ctrl + B". The subject is not on the list so if you press "ESC" escape to close this window and save, this will be the first entry of this subject.

Subject Added Entry-Topical Te 650 _ 0 ‡a Civilization, Occidental ‡x History. Ctrl + B

Keep in mind again. Every single time you type and AUTHOR ENTRY or SUBJECT ENTRY, You must ALWAYS perform the "Ctrl + B".

We have completed creating a MARC record. We do not record roman number "II. title" I have found some bibs that had it and I remove it. Please do not add that part. The Roman numeral "I" is already what we recorded earlier. Please do not enter that into a subject tag.

I didn't search for the book at the beginning of this lesson so surprisingly there is two on the list. One is fast add and one is the bib that was just created. Can you remember how we can tell which one is not a fast add?

The one that shows the publishing date at the right side is more likely the one that is not a fast add bib. We will go in and review the bibs and refresh on MERGING BIB'S.

Lets open the one that was just created

We are going to check the item barcode on this fast-add bib to see if it is the same barcode from the shelf-list used to create the full bib.

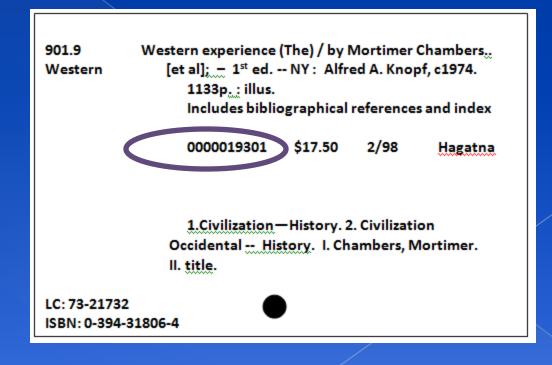

As I have presented earlier. Go to the Edit at the menu bar and left click on it. From the drop menu, choose "Send to..."

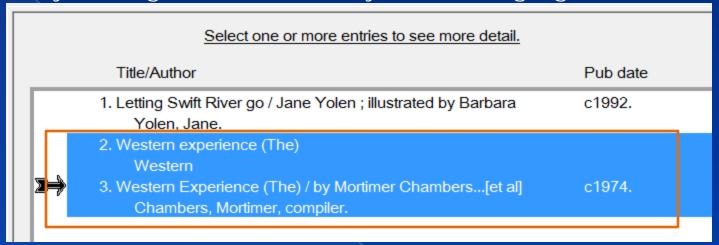

From the open window, choose "Copy/Item List" and OK at the bottom

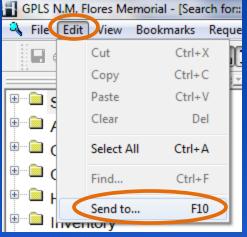

Okay, it shows here that this is the book that was fast-added. We will begin to merge the two titles. Press Escape from this screen and get back to the list of titles.

This is the list of titles. Select both titles the "Fast-Add" and the "Created Bib" by clicking on each until they are both highlighted.

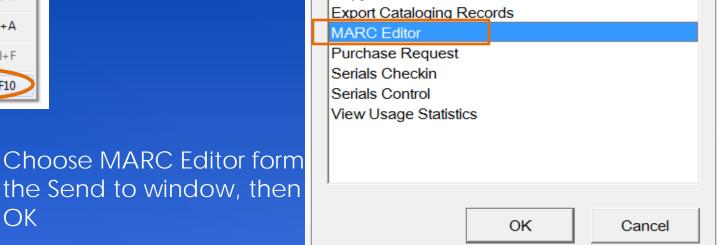

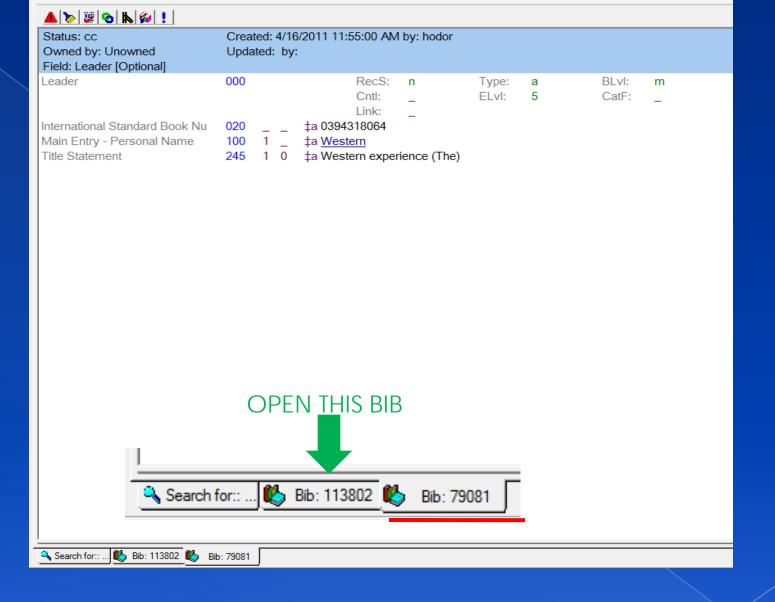

Select "Edit" at the menu bar and choose "Send to..." from the drop menu (or) press "F10" on your keyboard

You should recall this window from the previous lesson and notice the tabs at the bottom. The two bib numbers are there. We are going to merge the two, so as I was saying the first, time it is less confusing to merge from the full bib so we will click on the other bib number.

THERE ARE STILL MANY OTHER IMPORTANT TAGS TO ADD, BUT IF THE MATERIAL DOES NOT HAVE THE INFORMATION THEN IT IS NOT A TAG TO BE CONCERNED ABOUT. BELOW ARE A LIST OF TAG NUMBERS THAT ARE JUST AS IMPORTANT AND THAT ARE USED WHEN NECESSARY WHEN CREATING A BIB.

TAG NUMBER	DESCRIPTION	EXAMPLE
490	Series	Katy Woo, Goosebumps, Box Cars, Nancy
		Drew
586	Awards	Newberry medal
110	Corporate names	Colleges, businesses
710	Corporate name added	Colleges, businesses
520	Summary	Book summary
505	Formatted Content Note	When it is one book containing different titles by the same author.

ANOTHER THING TO KEEP IN MIND WHEN CREATING A BIB. THERE SOME BIBS THAT ARE REPEATABLE AND SOME THAT ARE NOT. PAY ATTENTION TO THE RED MARKINGS ON YOUR BIB.

Here is an example of what I mean about paying attention to the red markings. If you see anything on your bib that is red, there is something wrong. There is a red triangle with an exclamation point inside it "Show/Hide Errors" at the top of the bib record. If you point and click on it, your errors will appear at the bottom.
