US Coast Guard delivers foundation aid to Ulithi

(USCG) — On March 10, the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sequoia stopped at Ulithi Atoll while returning to Guam from a fisheries law enforcement patrol. While holding station off the coast, Sequoia had the unique opportunity to transport and deliver humanitarian aid supplies, provided by the Ayuda Foundation of Guam, to Falalop Island using her small boats.

The Sequoia's commanding officer, Lt. Cmdr Jessica Worst, said "We are grateful to have such a capable vessel that allows us the flexibility to perform our primary missions while also supporting humanitarian efforts in the Pacific."

After arriving offshore of Falalop, the Sequoia crew members removed aid supplies from the cargo hold and organized them on the buoy deck. The supplies consisted of 10 pallets containing items such as education materials, medicine, clothing, rice, sugar and rain barrels for catching water.

Once the contents of the pallets were spread out on deck, Sequoia launched two small boats to ferry personnel and supplies to the residents waiting on shore. Cutter personnel helped to transport the supplies from the small boats to the island, where members of the local community stacked and sorted the various items.

Through close cooperation between the crew of the Sequoia and residents of Falalop, the cargo was transferred to shore in less than four hours.

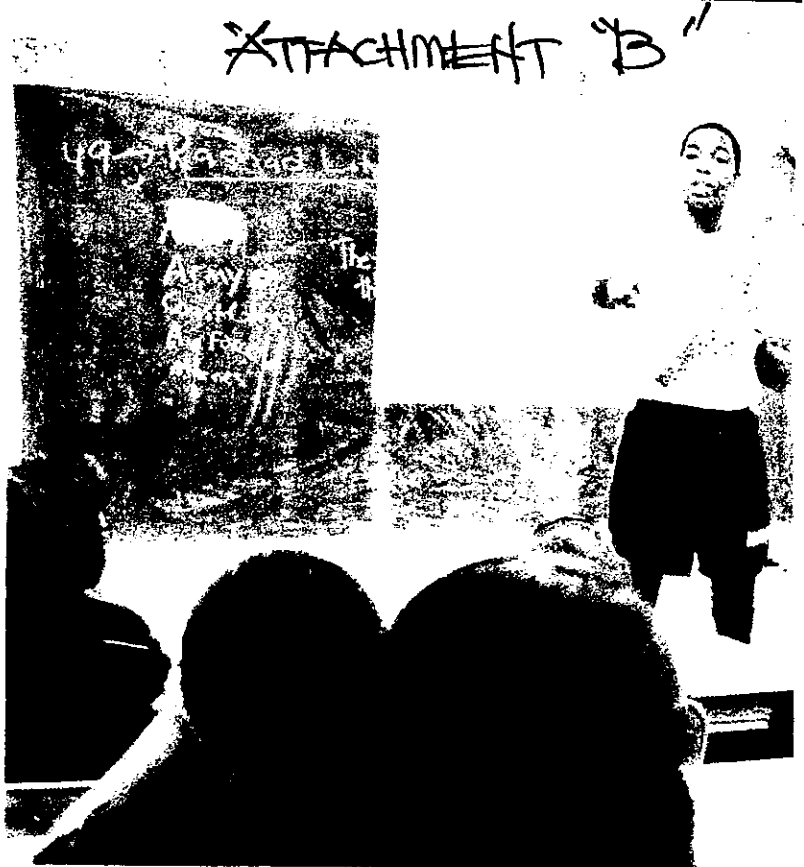

The islanders welcomed the Sequoia crew members warmly and thanked them for transporting the supplies, which are an important resource for families living on the remote islands, particularly since there are no piers for cargo ships to utilize on the island.

Sequoia's versatile multi-mission design and capabilities make the vessel an ideal platform to perform a wide variety of missions.

Sequoia, based on Guam, is manned by a crew of nine officers and 44 enlisted personnel. It is the 15th Jumper Class sea-going buoy tender and the 10th "B-Class" cutter built by Marinette Marine Corporation in Marinette, Wis. Sequoia's primary missions are maintaining aids to navigation, search and rescue, law enforcement, marine environmental protection and homeland security. It is 225 feet long with twin diesel engines, bow and stern thrusters, and advanced maneuvering capabilities that make it one of the world's premier buoy-tending platforms.

Machinist's Mate Fireman Rashad Little, assigned to the Los Angeles-class fast-attack submarine USS City of Corpus Christi, talks about his Navy experiences with students at B.P. Carbullido Elementary School in Barrigada last Friday. This was the submarine's first visit to the island since its change of homeport from Guam to Hawaii in 2011.

Visiting sub sailors volunteer at school

(USN) — USS City of Corpus Christi sailors gave back to the island they once called home during an outreach opportunity at B.P. Carbullido Elementary School in Barrigada on March 7.

This was the submarine's first visit to the island since its change of homeport from Guam to Hawaii in 2011.

"It's kind of like going back to where you grew up," said Petty Officer 2nd Class Jordan Larry, who was a junior sailor when City of Corpus Christi was homeported on Guam. "It's a privilege to have been here before so I can show the junior sailors around."

More than 10 sailors shared their career experiences, told stories about Navy life and participated in sports activities with the students.

"We like to show the community that we care and we do our part," said Petty Officer 1st Class Shane Stuteville.

Agnes Guerrero, the school principal, said the visit was beneficial to the students because it allowed them to learn more about the Navy and possibly set personal educational and career goals.

"It's something positive for our children," she said. "I really look forward to always building that relationship and they've been very, very good about coming to the schools every year making that time for our students."

The submarine departed Hawaii in November 2013 for a deployment to the Western Pacific region. It is capable of conducting anti-surface and anti-submarine operations along with guided missile strike operations using conventional Tomahawk land attack missiles.

General Motors must address recall soon to save reputation

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - General Motors Co. needs to get through its ignition-switch recall and the resulting federal investigation quickly to avoid any lasting damage to its brand, but the federal probe could keep the problem in the public eye for at least six months.

Analysts and academics warn that a misstep by GM could leave it with a lingering headache, something Toyota Motor Corp. experienced from 2009 to 2011 with recalls linked to sudden acceleration. The Japanese automaker was criticized for being slow to react to complaints and mutually blaming the drivers.

GM is currently interviewing employees dating back to the discovery in 2004 of the problem with the ignition switch, which has since been linked to 13 deaths, sources previously said. Meanwhile, U.S. safety regulators have opened an investigation into whether the

No. 1 U.S. automaker reacted swiftly enough in its recall last month of more than 1.6 million vehicles.

GM Chief Executive Mary Barra on Tuesday in a letter to GM employees said she deeply regretted the circumstances but was pleased with the company's response and the focus will be on customer safety and satisfaction.

Moving past the recall and related fallout will be critical to ensure the Detroit company continues the rebound since its 2009 bankrupt reorganization, analysts said.

"They need to get past this as quickly as possible," said George Cook, a marketing professor at the Simon Business School at the University of Rochester.

"You cannot be reactive in dealing with the American ear-buying public," added Cook, formerly an executive at Ford Motor Co. (F) for 10 years.

U.S. job growth offers upbeat sign

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - U.S. job growth accelerated sharply in February despite the icy weather that gripped much of the nation, easing fears of an abrupt economic slowdown and keeping the Federal Reserve on track to continue reducing its monetary stimulus.

Employers added 175,000 jobs to their payrolls last month after creating 129,000 new positions in January, the Labor Department said on Friday. The unemployment rate, however, rose to 6.7 percent from a five-year low of 6.6 percent as Americans flooded into the labor market to search for work.

"It reinforces the case for the economy being stronger than it's looked for the last couple of months," said Bill Cheney, chief economist at John Hancock Financial Services in Boston. "It makes life easier for the Fed and feeds into continuing the tapering process."

The report also showed the largest increase in average hourly earnings in eight months and the payrolls count for December and January was revised up to show 25,000 more jobs created during those months than previously reported.

Investors on Wall Street cheered the report. U.S. stocks ended mostly higher, with the Standard & Poor's 500 index closing at a record. The dollar bounced off a four-month low, while prices for U.S. Treasury debt fell, with the yield on the benchmark 10-year note hitting a six-week high.

Interest rate futures showed that traders ramped up bets on the Fed raising rates a bit sooner than had been previously thought. They now point to a 54 percent probability of a rate hike in June 2015.

Unusually cold and snowy weather has disrupted activity in much of the United States for months, and a few economists had begun to speculate that the U.S. central bank could reconsider its plan to wind down its bond-buying stimulus.

The eastern and central United States experienced record low temperatures last month and ice and snow blanketed densely populated areas during the week. Employers were surveyed for February payrolls. The winter storms left Wall Street bracing for a much weaker report. Economists had forecast nonfarm payrolls rising by only 149,000 jobs.

The weather, however, did have an impact. It cut into the length of the average workweek, which hit its lowest level since January 2011 and led to a drop in a measure of total work effort. But economists expect a reversal as soon as this month.

"The economy will defrost in the spring and heat up in the summer," said Michelle Meyer, a senior economist at Bank of America Merrill Lynch in New York. "We should see solid gains in job growth in coming months."

The smaller survey of households from which the unemployment rate is derived showed 6.9 million people with jobs reported they were working part-time because of the weather. That was the highest reading for February since the series started in 1978.

It also showed 601,000 people could not get to work because of the weather, the highest level for February since 2010. Economists said job growth in February would have been as high as 200,000 if not for the weather.

Washington, Tokyo seek to end deadlock on tariffs

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - The United States is finding talks with Japan on opening its agricultural market "extremely tough," a senior U.S. trade official said on Friday, as the two countries prepared for another round of bilateral negotiations.

Japanese officials will visit Washington next week in a bid to break a deadlock over products which is drawing out plans to conclude a wider free trade agreement among 12 Pacific Rim nations, the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP).

The United States had hoped to wrap up the deal last year, but ministerial-level talks in Singapore last month ended with many issues still on the table, most notably Japan's protection of its farm sector.

U.S. Acting Deputy Trade Representative Wendy Cutler said Japan was moving very slowly, despite a commitment to work towards a comprehensive and high-standard agreement when it joined the TPP last year.

"We and other TPP countries have reminded Japan what it signed up for, and what all the TPP countries signed up for when it joined the TPP. We've made limited progress on agriculture with Japan to date, big gaps remain but we are engaging with them," she told the Governor's Conference on Agricultural Trade in Richmond, Virginia.

"We continue to look to Japan to provide meaningful market access for our agricultural exports in a range of sectors."

Japan is keen to protect sensitive products such as beef, rice, sugar and dairy, while U.S. carmakers are concerned about increased competition from Japanese competitors if there is more open auto trade.

Meanwhile, a trade deal close to conclusion between Japan and Australia, another TPP partner, posed another risk to U.S. farm exporters, Cutler said.

20 Freescale employees aboard ill-fated plane

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) - Twenty employees of U.S. chipmaker Freescale Semiconductor were passengers on a Malaysia Airlines flight presumed to have crashed off the Vietnamese coast according to a company statement on Saturday.

The employees among 239 people on the plane included engineers and manufacturing staff, many of whom travel regularly between company facilities in Tianjin, China, and Kuala Lumpur, a company source said.

None of Austin, Texas-based Freescale's most senior executives were on board Boeing Co's 777-200ER, which vanished from radar screens about an hour after it took off from Kuala Lumpur for Beijing.

There were no confirmed signs of the plane or any wreckage well over 24 hours after flight MH370 went missing.

Twelve of the Freescale employees on the plane were from Malaysia and eight from China, the company said in a statement.

"At present, we are solely focused on our employees and their families," Freescale Chief Executive Officer Gregg Lowe said in a statement.

Freescale has sites in Tianjin and Kuala Lumpur for testing and packaging chips used in automobiles, consumer products, telecommunications infrastructure and industrial equipment.

JOINT VENTURE TEAMING AGREEMENT

This Teaming Agreement (hereinafter "Agreement") is entered into and made effective as of this 10th day of April 10, 2014 by and between S.K. Construction, Inc., whose principal place of business is located at 201 East Harmon Industrial Road, Harmon, Guam 96913 (hereinafter "S.K." or "Contractor"), and Giant Construction Co., Inc. whose principal place of business is located at PO Box 9578 Tamuning Guam 96931, ("Giant")

As teaming partners, S.K. and Giant have agreed to team exclusively on the Prime Contract under an arrangement where neither party shall perform its respective scope of work without the other firm.

Contractor and Subcontractor agree as follows:

1.0 Contract Documents

- 1.1 Prime Contract. Upon award, Contractor shall execute the Prime Contract with the Owner for complete performance of the Prime Contract. The Prime Contract, together with its addenda, supplements, amendments, changes or additions, and the Plans and Specifications shall constitute the Contract Documents.
- 1.2 Bound by Contract Documents. Pursuant to this Agreement, Subcontractor agrees to perform Contractor's scope of work, as required, under the Prime Contract (hereinafter "Work"). Except as may be expressly provided otherwise in this Agreement, the Subcontractor shall be bound to the Contractor by the terms and conditions of the Contract Documents and assumes toward the Contractor all duties, obligations and responsibilities that the Contractor, by those documents, shall assume toward the Owner. Subcontractor's rights and remedies against the Contractor under this Agreement shall be limited by and shall not exceed the Contractor's rights and remedies against the Owner under the Prime Contract. Subcontractor shall not have any direct contact with the Owner or Architect on this Project without the Contractor's prior approval. The provisions of the Agreement and the Contract Documents shall be intended to supplement and complement each other. If, however, any provisions of this Agreement irreconcilably conflict with another provision or with a provision of the Contract Documents, the provision imposing the greater duty on the Subcontractor shall govern.
- 1.3 Review of Contract Documents. Subcontractor shall acknowledge that it has inspected the Contract Documents pertinent or applicable to its scope of work and its rights and responsibilities under this Agreement. Subcontractor shall notify the Contractor in writing of any discrepancy, error or inconsistency discovered in the Contract Documents as soon as possible and prior to commencement of its work.
- 1.4 Preliminary Contract Documents. If this Agreement is based on preliminary, outline or otherwise unfinished Plans, Specifications or other Contract Documents, the Subcontractor shall accept responsibility for coordinating with the Contractor, the Owner, the Architect and the Engineer during the development of the final Plans, Specifications or other Contract Documents so as not to impose additional work or cost to the Contractor or other Subcontractors, or to cause an increase in the Subcontract Price. If the final Plans and Specifications or other Contract Documents change the scope or character of the work under this Subcontract, then the Subcontract Price will be equitably adjusted based on the extent of such changes, subject to the Contractor's receipt of an equivalent adjustment under the Prime Contract.

- 2.0 Scope of Work . Contractor and Subcontractor shall act as independent contractors in the performance of this Agreement, and neither Party shall act as an agent for or partner of the other Party for any purpose under this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute, create, give effect to, or otherwise recognize a joint venture, partnership, or formal entity of any kind, and the rights and obligations of the Parties shall be limited to those expressly set forth herein.
- 3.0 Timeframes . Specific timeframes that affect this Agreement are as follows:
- 3.1 Delay or Stoppage of Work .
- 3.1.1 Delay . If completion of the work is delayed due to a combination of circumstances, including delays by the Contractor and/or Subcontractors, any damages assessed against the Contractor shall be apportioned to the various Subcontractors in accordance with their degree of responsibility as determined by the Contractor.
- 3.1.2 Termination . If the Owner shall, with or without cause, terminate the Prime Contract, stop or suspend the work, fail to pay the Contractor any sum when due or default under the Prime Contract, the Contractor may stop or suspend the work hereunder and shall be liable to the Subcontractor for all expenses borne by the Subcontractor prior to the suspension of work.
- 4.0 Bonding. The Giant, as part of this Agreement specific to the Prime Contract, will provide bonding support to the Contractor, S.K., in order to jointly provide the required bonding for the project.
- 4.1 Legal Responsibility. This Agreement creates a legal responsibility on the Contractor as well as the Subcontractor to the Owner through the provision of payment and performance bonds by the Subcontractor. An indemnity agreement is signed by the Contractor and the Subcontractor obligating the Contractor to perform the Work in its entirety under the Prime Contract in accordance with the Contract Documents, and in the event that the Contractor fails to perform the Work under the Prime Contract, the Subcontractor will remedy the default.
- 5.0 Proprietary Information. During the term of this Agreement, it may be necessary for either party to disclose proprietary information to the other. Such information must be in writing, clearly identified as proprietary information, and marked with a notice stating any restriction as to its use. Each party agrees not to disclose the proprietary information of the other party to unauthorized parties, and each shall take the same precautions as it normally takes to safeguard its own proprietary information. None of the parties shall be liable for the inadvertent or accidental disclosure of such information, if such disclosure occurs despite the exercise of these precautions. Neither of the parties shall use the other's proprietary information for any purpose other than that is required for the performance of this Agreement. Neither party assumes responsibility for the release of the other's proprietary information by the United States Government pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act or any other similar regulation. Proprietary information shall be delivered only to the individuals authorized in writing by the other party to receive such data. Proprietary information shall remain the property of the furnishing party and shall be returned promptly upon request. The obligations of the parties under this provision concerning proprietary information of data shall terminate twelve (12) months after the final completion of the Contract.

- 6.0 Authorization . Each party warrants that the representatives signing this Agreement are authorized to enter into this Agreement on behalf of the respective parties and further warrants that each party respectively has agreed to all of the terms and conditions of the Agreement.
- 7.0 Notice. Any notice required by this Agreement shall be sent by registered or certified mail with the United States Postal Service, return receipt requested, to the following address:

(Name of Contractor)

hereinafter called the Contractor and DONGBU INSURANCE CO., LTD.

(Name of Surety)

a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of KOREA and authorized to transact business in Guam, as Surety, are held and firmly bound unto the Government of Guam, as obligee, hereinafter called the Government for use and benefit of claimants as herein below defined, in the amount of NINE HUNDRED NINETY-ONE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED SIXTY SIX & 72/100 Dollars

($ 991,466.72) for the payment whereof the Contractor and Surety bind themselves, their heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents.

WHEREAS, the Contractor has by written Agreement dated APRIL 25, ~~XXXX~~ 2014 entered into a Contract with the Government for the "Guam Public Library Extension, Design-Build, (Re-Bid Package), Project No.: 540-5-1023-F-AGN" in accordance with Drawings and Specifications prepared by the Department of Public Works, which Contract is by reference made a part hereof, and is hereinafter referred to as the Contract.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CONDITION OF THIS OBLIGATION is such that, if the Contractor shall promptly and faithfully perform said Contract, and shall promptly make payment to all claimants as hereinafter defined for all labor and material used or reasonably required for use in the performance of the Contract, then this obligation shall be void; otherwise it shall remain in full force and effect, subject, however, to the following conditions:

- A. The Surety hereby waives notice of any alteration or extension of the time made by the Government provided the same is within the scope of the Contract.
- B. Whenever Contractor shall be and is declared in default by the Government to be in default under the Contract, the Government having performed territorial obligations thereunder, the Surety may promptly remedy the default or shall promptly:

1. Complete the Contract in accordance with its terms and conditions; or
2. Obtain a bid or bids for completing the Contract in accordance with its terms and conditions, and upon determination by the Government and the Surety of the lowest responsive, responsible bidder, arrange for a Contract between such bidder and the Government, and make available as work progresses (even though there should be a default or a succession of defaults under the Contract or Contracts of completion arranged under this paragraph) sufficient funds to pay the cost of completion less than balance of the Contract price, but not exceeding, including other costs and damages for which the Surety may be liable hereunder, the amount set forth in the first paragraph hereof. The term "balance of the Contract price", as used in this paragraph shall mean the total amount payable by the Government to Contractor under the Contract and any amendments thereto, less the amount properly paid by the Government to Contractor. No right of action shall accrue on this bond to or for the use of any person or corporation other than the Government or successors of the Government.

C. D. The above-named Contractor and Surety hereby jointly and severally agree with the Government that every claimant as herein defined, who has not been paid in full before the expiration of a period of forty five (45) days after the date on which the last of such claimant's work or labor was done or performed, or materials were furnished by such claimant, may sue on this bond for use of such claimant, prosecute the suit to final judgment for such sum or sums as may be justly due claimant, and have execution thereon. The Government shall not be liable for the payment of any costs or expenses of any such suit.

E. No suit or action shall be commenced hereunder by any claimant:

1. Unless claimant, other than one having a direct contract with the Contractor, shall have given written notice to any two of the following:

The Contractor, the Government, or the Surety above named, within forty five (45) days after such claimant did or performed the last of the work or labor, or furnished the last of the materials for which said claim is made, stating with substantial accuracy the amount claimed and the name of the party to whom the materials were furnished, or for whom the work or labor was done or performed. Such notice shall be personally served by mailing the same by registered mail or certified mail, postage prepaid, in an envelope addressed to the Contractor at any place the principal maintains an office or conducts its business.

2. After the expiration of one (1) year following the date on which the last of the labor was performed or material was supplied by the party bringing suit.
3. Other than in a court of competent jurisdiction in and for the Territory of Guam.

F. The amount of the payment bond shall be reduced by and to the extent of any payment or payments made in good faith hereunder, inclusive of the payment by Surety of mechanics' liens which may be filed of record against said improvement, whether or not claim for the amount of such lien be presented under and against this bond.
